

2019 Vision and Imaging Technology Award: Call for Demos

The IET's Vision and Imaging Technical Network is giving an award to the best technology demo in the field of Vision and Imaging.

There are two categories: Student Technology and General Technology.

Winners in each category will receive a prize of £500. Winners will also be invited to present their work via a webinar disseminated through the IET's Vision & Imaging Technical Network and you will be able to cite "IET Vision & Imaging Technology Award Winner 2019" in your communications.

Applicants with the most impressive technologies will be invited to take part in a final dedicated demonstration session during the ICDP2019 conference in London (16-18 December, University of Westminster), where each demo will be judged by a panel of experts.

Submissions

To showcase your innovation, please submit a A3 mini poster of your work (in PDF format), containing a URL to a short video demonstration of the work

The poster should contain: your name (indicating if you are a student), your organisation and your email address

Judging & Judging criteria

The judging panel will be made up of the committee members of the IET Vision and Imaging Technical Network or their nominees.

Each submission will be judged on the basis of technical excellence, value of the work to the wider engineering community and public benefit, business potential, novelty of the basic idea and its implementation. Submissions are open to both industry and academia, based both in the UK and internationally
